Principles of Negotiation
A negotiation is a collaboration... not a confrontation
Be likable and logical

YOU have power

YOU set the tone

Be prepared
Negotiation is expected

(unless clearly stated otherwise)

Some companies just don’t negotiate!
Do not apologize.

Do not apologize.

Do not apologize.
You do not have to negotiate...

(but you should still ask a few questions)

How did you determine the salary?

Where does the salary fall within the range for the role company-wide?

How is performance evaluated & rewarded?

What are the opportunities for advancement?
Preparing for Negotiation
Financial needs
Market research
Minimum salary & range
Non-wage negotiables
Prepare a script
Financial Needs
• Rent/mortgage
• Food/utilities
• Relocation costs
• Lifestyle
• Savings
• Debt
• Financial goals

Market Research

Non-wage Negotiables
• Flex schedule
• Time off
• Telecommuting
• Training
• Conferences
• Professional Association memberships
Ask yourself....

What do I need out of the offer?

What are my deal-breakers?

What excites me about the possibility of working for the organization?

At what point would I walk away?

What options do I have besides this opportunity?
Receiving and Evaluating Offers
Receiving an offer

- Be appreciative, enthusiastic, positive
- Get it in writing
- Set a date to respond
Is the offer much lower than expected?

Before negotiating...

“The salary you are offering is quite a bit lower than I expected.

Can you tell me how you arrived at that figure?”
How do you decide?

- Your “ideal” offer
- Industry standards
- Other offers

Wages + Benefits + Perks

Goal Alignment

- Short term
- Long term

- Environment/culture
- Job tasks
- People

Fit
The big picture

- Base Salary
- Tuition and training

Q: Should I strive to have another offer before negotiating?

A: Not necessarily!
Communication Tips, Techniques & Scripts
Tips

- Negotiate in person or via phone
- Ask open-ended questions
- Be solution-oriented, interested, and positive
Tips

- Silence is your friend
- Ask questions
- Make reasonable requests
What are your salary expectations?

This approach is appropriate only in the early stages of the interview process

- Technique #1: Delay
  - “Before discussing a salary range, it would be very helpful to know more about the responsibilities so I can get a sense of what you need and then do a bit more research. Can we discuss this after I have interviewed?”

  - “At this early stage, I would prefer if we focus on determining if I am the best candidate for the job. I am confident we will agree on salary once we determine I am the right fit.”
What are your salary expectations?

• Technique #2: Deflect
  – “I expect to be paid a fair market rate based on my experience and the nature of the role. Can you tell me what your hiring range is for the position?”

• Technique #3: Direct Answer
  – “Based on my research, I believe a salary in the range of $xx-yy is fair for someone with my skills and experience. I am always open to negotiation, pending the details of the offer as a whole.”
What is your current salary?

- Current/previous salaries may be irrelevant
  - “My previous position was different in that ... [explain how] therefore, my salary in that position is not relevant to this new role.”

  - “While completing my graduate degree, I have gained new skills which will add considerable value to my work in this role, so my previous salary is no longer applicable.”
What if...

• The offer is low?
  – “I am very excited to receive your offer and am looking forward to joining the team. I was expecting a bit more in the base compensation, based on my experience and the industry standard. What flexibility is there in your offer?”

  – “I appreciate the offer, but in my research I found that a base salary for someone with my background and skills would be a bit higher. I was thinking something like [specific number].”
What if...

- You get pushback?
  - “I understand where you are coming from, and I just want to reiterate that I do think I add high value to the team and that this would be a great fit. I think my skills are more in the range of [state a range].”

- The salary is non-negotiable?
  - “I understand if the base compensation is fixed; what possibilities exist for negotiation in the rest of the package?”

- You have multiple things to negotiate?
  - Negotiate the entire package, but be clear of the relative importance of each item
What if...

• They won’t budge?
  – Ask questions to understand their side
  – After the conversation goes “back and forth” a few times, accept that it is non-negotiable; if you continue, you risk harming the relationship
  – Decide if you are willing to walk away

• They ask if you have other offers?
  – Be truthful about existing or expected offers - you don’t need to specify exact details, but you can discuss general comparability of offers
MIDS Salary Data
2017 – 2018 MIDS Graduates

• United States
  o Median annual salary - $125,000 (range $50k-$375k)
  o Median annual bonus - $16,800
